LIVING ON LIGHT ~ NEW RENAISSANCE

You were nurtured from highly efficient parent energies known as the Zodiac, the Life Light Zone. When consciousness became aware, so too did you, hence your soulfulness. The human kingdom is 'liquid presence' – your liquid light sustains, maintains and nourishes you all in every way, you only have to be conscious and allow it. You are carriers of Love, Light bodies or love expressed. The key to future physics gives you the knowledge of how color codes will allow your species to literally, genetically retool itself in conjunction with the Brothers of Light.

Color and sound are the most important energy structures for the imprint embodiment of the soul form. They are the modeling ground structures which shape the visible and invisible creation of life....it is the sperm colors of your local universe that assist with the creation process within your 3rd dimension. The soul determines the best life experience and life blueprint prior to your physical birth. The soul creates its life map; the incarnate blueprint of consciousness which is a holographic replica as the One Source. Your soul essence is resident upon your first breath it is at this point that the light body is fully engaged into the 3rd dimension. Life fires up the synapses pathways in the brain making connection to the Pinal Gland (your sacred pinecone) which embodies the shape of the universe, by that we mean the universe in its creation is fractal; which is how the universe is formed. The Pinal Gland is likened to a transmitter; it sends signals into the universal light body for recognition of your entry and will stay with you until your departure from your embodiment. Life is likened to sifting sand, meaning it is always in movement and never the same from moment to moment. The consciousness grid is considered the fractal rainbow within your time-space-continuum.

Color in varied spectrums represents different laws of physics. Sharp peaks are (big bangs), when color fluctuates within the fractal initiation it indicates the laws of physics are not yet settled. They become fixed only in the valleys. As likened to the universe you live in now. As color expands it settles. There are elementary and super heavy particles carrying magnetic charge or objects that have only one magnetic pole which are fragments of carbon, hydrogen, helium and other elements. A proton is two thousand times heavier than an electron. Light and dark are symbolic energy; the energy of light is active, the energy of dark is potential. The dark is holding the magnetism in form (carbon), the energy of Light is electromagnetism and they work in unison on the streams of expansion. When there is peace between the light and dark there is a balance between the two and you experience peace.

The mind is a field of light for the body, yet the mind is a field of light within a field of light and eternal light; the mind is your soulful self. Yet, as you understand mind (your brain thoughts), you've evolved to initiating the pineal gland which is the transmitter to the Lords of Light within your universe and your crystalline matrix (grid) is activated for clarity purposes. For the human condition Light is your wings you so intently wish to spread.

You are living Light; accept emotions they express your physical embodiment or light energy in motion and allow you opportunity to expand or contract (love or fear – in love you expand, in fear you contract). Your embodiment are 70% water and allows for your fluidity, this is the same energy that moves across the waters of your beautiful blue planet which always loves and completes a cycle to make things sacred and to make things whole; always expanding and contracting to allow infinity to release its own coil for expansion.

The principle of 7 is that each cell is in manifestation of the whole, which is within the heart trinity (center). Your heart is at the very core of your life which is always expanding and contracting at a rate of approximately 100,000 beats a day, rhythmically drumming every cell of your body. The heart communicates through percussion and sonic waves, thumping directly upon the liver, rolling against the lungs and resonating in the stomach. The heart listens to itself through sonic emanations echoed back from the surrounding rib-basket. Heart waves are manifested in third dimensional spaces around the organ, while the electromagnetic effluence of the heart radiates off your bodies perfusing the space around you with the signature impressions of your own person. Relationships are directly shaped by that which flows from the heart. Phase space is a physics term which is used to reference all the space the heart may occupy when moving freely over a period of time. Holding your breath, holding back your emotions, or denying your deepest longing limits your phase space. The hearts physical shape facilitates and shapes the movement of the blood flow. The body is the sacred temple which harbors the heart and the arch of the covenant which is your sacred heart which is the doorway to the soul. Serenity in the heart will release the mind (soulful self, not brain thoughts) and attachment to you (ego).

There are 7 points of light within your body; those 7 points of light align with the 7th Ray; the 7th Ray is Christ Light. The heart is the Christ and the Christ is the Teacher. And the Teacher awakens you to who you are – which is the teacher of Light. Therefore you are all Teachers of Light. Liquid Presence is the essence that sustains your embodiment. This is your breath. When you are aware of your breath in each heart beat and you find serenity in every step, breath and turn, then this will take you to the New Renaissance (your rebirth or awakening to your Truth) where the Lords of Love bring continuity and understanding of the depth of meaning in all things.

Time is short, change is coming quickly and you are starting to understand there is an end point alignment for 1) transformation, 2) transmutation and 3) completion. We exist as Teachers of Light and are beings of higher vibration that are farther along the pathway than you at this point. We come to give the gift and message of enlightenment, the gift of Love. Your breath is light created through your actions and reaction. You are experiencing a point of breakthrough, a watershed of emotions and the crossing point of cultures. There is a transformation that is coming and you shall be a part of it. In each of these systems there are alliances with the play of creation which hold 7 points of expression that send forth specific energies for the design of the manifestation of the 3rd dimensions ascension. Consensus reality is directly aligned to the 'collective consciousness' within your time-space-continuum and requires detachment and focused discernment. This is why we always say, 'follow your heart, it will not deceive you.'

This is the New Renaissance we are speaking about; you are in the 7th Golden Age, the last Golden Age was during the 6th Century.; coined as the 6th Golden Age a time of Camelot. The vision of Camelot is still alive and well within your blueprint. Camelot holds the vision where all people are treated equal, where honor is truly a noble quality. The Camelot legends portray the cycles of Nature and your own personal nature, which reflect the elemental aspects of your lives in alliance with nature to empower your personal quest. Camelot has always been an idea or a dream waiting to birth itself, a catalyst (energy) for global harmony, clarity, and unity. The New Renaissance, A dream where peace resides and love is the governing allegiance you live and breath.

So what is this new Renaissance?

It's a dream, a vision, a hope for a new tomorrow. A time for letting go of all that does not support us and a time for allowance to reconnect to our divine flow and our divine heritage. Truth awaits us, from a journey on a winding path called illusion. The angels have said, to truly see is to see with the eyes of the heart and to truly see, we must allow ourselves to be wrong, to be lost. Only then, may we begin to open our eyes. One need not leave this world to reach the divine; we must touch the divine here on earth. Upon enlightenment we cease to burn, rather one becomes the fire, lighting the way for others.

And so it is.....
