Awakening the Children of the Dawn The walking wounded

The Creators of the New Thought Generation have entered the time period of the sacred NOW of transformation. What does not serve you will fall away; you're holding onto a dis-service as the walking wounded, yet you are the Children of the Dawn. Dawn births new beginnings, every moment is a new beginning, but the metaphor for the dawn as we share it with you is about a new concept and belief system that has awakened within you. Your authenticity is something you are born with, it will (when you are ready) rise up within you and shift your very belief system; to resist is to struggle and resistance always persists. Getting to your Truth about yourself, not what you believe is the truth about you, but allowing your true self to surface is the key to awakening and the pathway to the new earth.

This is the time of Harvest where Terra (the new revolution) calls you to produce your creations. Terra has her way and her patience in bringing balance, and with the harvest, you are encouraged to shed your woundedness. Who is the walking wounded? They are the sleep walkers - you may at times be included in this energy. You know them, the ones that have been hit and don't know it yet. You assume they are normal until something triggers their repressed rage. This is what we mean by the harvest and it can be perceived as a harsh reality, because Terra demands only TRUTH for that is what she stands for and the essential seeds of life she shares with you in all of nature. Judgment comes from the awakening energies as collective, co-creative power. Remember that Source Energy manifests in agreement with soul and Terra. Time has come 'sleep walkers' to dream of a new world opening to balance and harmony. The time of greed is over and the great currents of Terra will recycle and pass into the frequency of forgiveness. You must come to a reckoning of forgiveness and forgive yourself for holding on to energy that does not serve you; holding on to energy gone past is a pandemic virus embedded within your global structure and you are not immune from this pandemonium. Remember that the past is gone and remains in the vault of knowledge. There is a well of passion that exists with the experiences and in letting go will renew itself in reclaimed essence. These are the lesson of the past life experiences. None are necessary to revive; it is the YOU NOW that matters.

As many of you have been experiencing nodes of chaos, moving from a peaceful base to being totally out of control and questioning your belief system..... This is just one example of the walking wounded and we share it with you to underscore that no one is immune from the energy that is calling for awaking...The Truth. (total excerpt not documented in this writing, but is on the CD).

Liquid Presence (we call air) causes changes in your vibration: Breathe....

There is a Galactic Renaissance in progress and it is being propelled by Scalar Wave moment through the energy fields within the planetary grids, such as the ley lines that are activating now and have not been activated in over 200,000 years. There are frequencies coming through the solar light spectrum that are going to activate your DNA spontaneously, causing changes in the planetary particle/matter base, as well as the bio-spiritual particle/matter base of the human condition. The human body form is intimately linked to the planetary grids, because the fetal integration process necessitates being birthed through them. We have shared with you that consciousness and your DNA are intimately interwoven; when one expands, so does the other and we have shared with you that the encodements of the akashic records are embedded within your bodies; not only the DNA. As we mentioned the time space continuum has sped up and as such a great awakening is in progress.

Liquid presence (we call air) is consumed with particles of gratitude which is pure nourishment allowing source energy to circulate through every cell and ground you to the electromagnetic frequencies of Terra (earth) in the field of love and magnetism. You are being rewired, clarified and crystallized. The voltage of energy coming in is part of the transfiguration of quantum particles that will be released within liquid presence (air) and ever available to you. As you breathe it in it stimulate your cells, oxygenates your blood and allows all that does not serve you to automatically shed itself. ~ Excerpts from The Hidden Secrets Discourse 8/09 ~

The sun downloads the energy into your planet using its magnetic fields as spherical resonance chambers transmitting spiritual encodements manifesting as scalar wave entities along concentrated stream membranes with evolutionary energy currents. Sound codes from the universal frequency of this energy emit an octave in the form of a vibration; in this case the octave "B" which stimulates the pineal gland which sits in the center of the head. It is embedded with crystalline structures made of calcite. These structures act as a cosmic antennae connecting to the scalar wave energies. Take note: your mucus membranes based on your dietary consumption has developed a film coating over many of your glands and causes your channeling connection to have static and therefore not allowing you to fully use your innate capabilities. Remember that your pineal gland acts as your internal biological clock controlling body rhythms and cycles and control centers for effective mental, emotional and physical functioning. It also affects your right brain hemisphere, right eye and central nervous systems. The right side of the brain is a direct connect to your spiritual essence.

The frequency of Light flooding your planet in this NOW time is so concentrated that it is pulling apart the holographic illusion of 3-dimensional manifestations the illusion of space, time and matter solidity. The sound code frequencies are reforming the science of light, sound, symbol codes and the base codes of matter. This metamorphosis deals directly with the templates of manifestation; how consciousness moves itself into energy form. The hologram of your reality structure is built upon scalar grids, composed of scalar waves, standing wave patterns that emanate from fixed points of frequency (electron-tonal consciousness or groups of electron-tonal consciousness), likened to your digital technology. Within your hologram the participle matter called practicum is structures on these units of electro-tonal consciousness; these are the smallest units of energy-substance, and the building blocks of morphogenetic fields, matter and individual conscious identity. These ultra-micro particles group to form strands then grids. The grids build up to become crystallization encodements. These crystalline structures have mathematical-geometrical translations forming the fabric of morphogenetic fields, which are the form holding blueprints, energetic frameworks within which manifest your seemingly reality. The human genetics is merely a field of energy grid of scalar wave forms which house your consciousness and allow consciousness to be embodied. They are patterns of energy that flash on and off throughout the body repeating rhythms. In truth you are all consciousness energy forming and reforming yourself in every now moment; again likened to your digital technology. When the frequency gets out of balance so too does the image. The illusion of your space, time and matter solidity is created by the relationship of your consciousness and this vibratory/oscillation rate in relation to what you are perceiving (where you're holding your mind thoughts and the time matrix). At dawn, new energy light tones are released and as you awaken to your truth stimulates your pineal gland where the pineal links the full silicate matrix to the body and integrates higher frequency tones within your physical bodies. Hence the awakening of the children of the dawn....

What is happening now is the Service of the Vanguard of the Family of Light comes as angels to renew a troubled world fallen into slumber. The walking wounded will continue to lash out as they allow the alignment of the new energy to integrate with their bodies transmitting darkness (held resistance) into light. Each morning Terra's song through nature sings to her children and calls the sleep-walkers to heal and awaken the dying to the gift of eternal light; the service of healing the body return as the children of Terra (the mother) in the path to enlightenment. Then and only then, will the suffering end for the children of Terra to a reformed world of love and light.

The Emerald Heart opening ~ a time to become....

- Swords of karma bring division of light and dark ~call in the blue fire of surrender
- The concept of a new earth is a metaphor as the children of light awaken to their truth
- The living library is opened by the Symbol Givers & Light Coders to establish the blue print of new content and structures that allow the light energy to be received, channeled and propagated
- Once your life stream as light workers have been opened via the emerald heart, the Creators of Color and time orchestrate the participants to install their Codes & Symbols within the given fabric of the human body; the chalice is completed
- At this point the division between the Family of Light and Dark reach a metamorphosis
 - o The dark family sought power
 - o The light family intelligence
- The new frequency will appear as a figure 8; it attracts and pulls the energies that are compatible and magnetically aligned to it into the vortex of change; this is the Great Attractor; the return of the One, for the One, by the One, and in the One.
- Your (Ions) or (I AM) is the energy of light
- The Symbol Givers are working with geometries to restructure light encodements to all the Soul Carriers to progress and evolve to continue the great expression of the Creator through individual expression.
- Gathering of sound (tones) to zero point (the alter of stillness) which is coined " no mind" is activated and you align with Zero Point - zero point comes from the heart center which induces:
 - o Non attachment
 - o Clarity of thought &
 - o Purity of heart

Christ Consciousness awakens within you and you understand:

- What appears to be struggle is choice
- What appears to be pain is consciousness
- What appears to be evil is awareness
- What appears to be time is sight
- What appears to be space is desire

The Family of Power is the family of dark, they create structure to allow the Family of Light to choose the path of freedom and follow energy by surrendering to the call of the Family of Love who Creates Oneness.

Beloved children of love and light; you are truly not the walking wounded only by your admission to your unresolved aspects of yourself. The act of forgiveness is a gift; this gift travels with you wherever you go. When you do not trust it, Divinity sends his Son to you (this is the Christ Light within you) to remind you of this gift. And this inner sacred voice tells you that you must give the gift if you would keep it. Remember that Christ is not a person, but a keeper of the flame, a giver of the gift and a messenger of Love. Light comes from Him, because he has remembered light in the darkness of the world. Loves comes from Him, because he has received the gift and learned to give it unconditionally to all who would receive it. This energy resided within you and is offered through the Emerald Heart, you must open your heart, so your heart can open you. As the walking wounded 'forgiveness' is the elixir that will release you from your woundedness. Without forgiveness there can be no communion (coming into union) between people. Instead, old wounds are aggravated by hidden resentments and you hold yourself hostage by not letting go.

Prayer of Rhythms....

“Make me wise to your rhythms, O Holy One. May my life be a pleasing offering, a living prayer that connects me with you, with others, and with myself. Open my eyes that I may see your strong hand of freedom; open my ears, that I may hear your words of justice; open my heart, that I may forever remember who I Am (we are all the children of Divinity, blessed and holy and that will never change) for I AM you and you are me.”

and so it is.....

Not included in this documentation but on the CD:

- Angelic Host in attendance; Angel of the Galactic Beam, Angel of the Lunar Cycle, Angel of Multidimensionality, Angel of Cosmic Consciousness, Angel of the One Heart
- More in-depth clarity regarding Scalar Wave Energy and Earth Movement
- More in-depth clarity regarding walking wounded, a time to become & energy integration
- Whole Breath (Liquid Presence) Poem
- More....
